Boston's premier base ball pitcher is Young in everything but years.

Congratulations, Bellows Falls! On paper it looked like a bad thing.

Carrie Nation says that dancing is only an excuse for logging. Has Carrie ever danced then?

It gives Barre people rather a homesick feeling to realize that they haven't any boys at muster to visit.

Senator Dillingham was the best man the other day, which is the superlative of good men, already known by us to be true in his case.

These periodic blow-ups in Swanton are getting so common that when Swantonites hear a pin fall they unconsciously turn their eyes toward the powder plant.

The Randolph Herald and News suggests that it may be wise to lay in quite a stock of oil before people are called upon to pay "the big fine." Oil right.

There is quite an interesting little business encounter on this week in Washington county with two circus companies vying for popular favor, to say nothing of the horse trot in Barre.

The man who was struck by the train yesterday afternoon lives to tell the tale, but all of them don't. In fact, a small number do. The exceptions should not tempt the rest of us to try fate in a similar form.

THE MOTORMAN'S CHOICE.

Granted that you were on the front end of a fast-moving electric car and that the guidance of the vehicle was entrusted to your hand. Granted also that you rounded a curve in the track and saw another electric car bearing down on you at equal speed. What would you do? What would be your first impulse? Would you leave the car at once or would you reverse the power and set the brake before jumping? Or would you reverse, set the brake and stick to your post? You may never have the decision to make, for few men, comparatively, are employed as motormen of electric cars. But you may, in the contemplation of the possibility, appreciate something of the feeling that comes over the man who does have the decision to make.

Take for a concrete illustration the recent trolley accident in Center Rutland, in which several people were badly hurt, including the motorman of one of the cars. The man to whom was entrusted the guidance of the well-filled passenger car and the man in charge of the empty extra, which it met on a curve, furnish us tests of the actions prompted by impulse under an emergency. Not that we wish to draw any odious comparison of the actions of the two men, for it seems to us that each Peter Cooper on August 9, 1828, started his first locomotive. January, 1849, the first continuous railroad line connecting New York with Boston.

Today there are about 250,000 miles of railroad in the United States, and 10,000 people were killed and 90,000 injured during 1906 in railroad accidents.

Still these figures probably won't deter anyone from a trip this Summer, and no matter where, you cannot get a better outfit for clothing than we offer this week. We have Sack Suits, patterns that won't show the dust, at $7.98, 12.98, 16.98.

Blue Serge Suits that will stand the weather at $9.00, 10.80, 13.50.

did his duty at the exact moment. Both, when they first sighted the danger, did what their training prompted them to do, and that was to try to lessen the force of the inevitable collision by shutting off the power and setting the brake. Then the motorman of the empty car jumped. He did what most men would have done for having done what he could to avert the collision there was no moral obligation for him to remain on the empty car. The other man, who had a car full of passengers, perhaps felt a moral obligation to stick to his post, for he not only threw off the electric current but he stayed and took the brunt of the impact. Would you have done the same? It takes nerve for a man to stand in the face of what appears to be either death or serious injury, when he has a chance to escape. Only the brave men dare do it. The press reports state that his remaining at his post undoubtedly prevented much more serious injury to the women and children in the front seat, as his body, to a certain extent, shielded them from the force of the collision. All who have read of his heroic deed earnestly that this motorman's life may be spared.

SLICKING UP RUINS.

About Swanton Powder Mill Explosion—One Victim Still Critically Ill.

Swanton, Aug. 8.—Everything is rapidly assuming normal conditions at the plant of the Robin Hood Ammunition company and with the exception of the shell-loading room, practically demolished by the explosion Wednesday, all departments are running about as usual. The excitement has subsided and confidence among the operatives seemingly restored. Nelson Raine, one of the seriously injured, has expressed a desire for his old job in the loading room as soon as he is well enough to work again. The injured are getting on as well as could be expected. Miss Luntan, one of the worst cases, remains about the same and is still in a critical condition. Miss Hong is having some trouble with one of her eyes and Miss Kirby is improving. Mr. Raine and Mr. Tavis are experiencing considerable pain, but conditions are favorable.

Manager C. E. Schell has desired, and still desires, to take all the injured to St. Albans or Burlington hospitals in order that they may have the best possible nursing and care, but all the patients are opposed to it, although assured of no expense to them.

EAST MONTPELIER.

There will be no services either in East or North Montpelier Sunday by the Rev. Alvin M. Smith, as he goes to the Universalist grove meeting, Ferry Beach park, Maine, for a few days. The usual services will be held on Sunday at the Evangelical church, at 3:30 and 7 p. m. The Rev. George A. Moore of Montpelier, the pastor, will preach in the afternoon. Sunday school will be held at 1:30 p. m. All are welcome.

More Natural History. "They call the lion the king of beasts," said the student. "Yes," answered the teacher. "Yet the book says that in actual fighting lions are often quitters." "Well, so are some kings,"—Washington Star.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Need of Supervision.

Just to give a more or less common instance tending to show how badly expert school supervision is needed in Vermont, particularly in the rural schools, let The Messenger cite the case of a school teacher who came to notice in a casual way this spring when he began to teach a rural school where he was 17 years old, who has taught seven terms, and has never yet had a suggestion about his work from the town superintendent of schools, and whose school has never yet been visited by a school director! There are too many instances very like this in Vermont.

Iced Milk For Tourists.

The farmer that shows the good judgment to advertise Vermont maple sugar cakes for sale, will tell you that the number of automobile parties that are touring Vermont are very profitable. Some farmers are picking up some snug little sums by advertising iced milk for sale. Get the habit—Waterbury Record.

The Habit of Saving.

Vermont school children, 750 of them, have $5,028 to their credit in the savings banks of the state as a result of the school savings stamp idea in operation in some schools. The amount is considerable, but the habit of saving it implies it most important.—St. Johnsbury Republican.

When Harris Nodded.

When our friend John E. Harris took the editorial control of the Hardwick Gazette he took occasion to criticize the state papers for discussing politics in midsummer. And now comes the said Harris into print with the interesting announcement that Judge George M. Powers will have strong support for senator when it becomes necessary to consider a successor to Senator Proctor, and that Mr. Fletcher is being labored with, in the interests of harmony, to withdraw from the gubernatorial contest. Brother Harris is giving us considerable political gossip in one fell swoop, and he must be too critical in the publication of such interesting rumors starts up the liveliest kind of political debate.—St. Johnsbury Caledonian.

Migration of Americans to Canada.

While Senator Dillingham and other members of the national immigration commission are investigating matters in Europe in connection with the immigration problem, other members of that body are looking in various directions on this side of the Atlantic. It is announced that Professor J. W. Jenks of Cornell university and friend of President Roosevelt, is making a tour of the Canadian Northwest for the purpose of investigating the rush of Americans to that part of the Dominion, with the idea of counteracting the movement, if possible, and thus saving for this country the desirable class of citizens we are losing.

Professor Jenks, who has already visited Winnipeg, Edmonton and other points, has now gone to the Pacific coast with the special object of investigating the conditions attending the pouring into the Dominion of a horde of Asiatics, particularly the Japanese. He expects this immigration to assume still larger proportions than have at present been reached in Canada, and in view of recent developments in this country in connection with the advent of emigrants from the "Island Empire," this matter has a large degree of interest for the people of the United States.

The principal object of the tour of Professor Jenks, however, is to secure information relating to the immigration of Americans to the Canadian north-west, and if he is successful in devising some method of turning the American current back to the state in connection with the confidential report he is to make to the president concerning the causes of this movement, he will be entitled to the gratitude of the American people for the first time, and the extent of the drain upon the financial strength and resources as well as some of the best blood of our Western states.—Burlington Free Press.

Would It Choke Them?

While the state's attorney of other counties are somewhat busy in seeing that the weekly payment laws are enforced, the state's attorney of Lamoille county has no trouble of that kind on his list. In this territory weekly payment is all there is to it, unless there is now and then a farmer who pays monthly. Wouldn't it be a burden if the farmer had to "cough up the dough" every week?—Morrisville News and Citizen.

ORDER TO GO OUT.

Long-Threatened Tie-Up in Washington in Building Trades.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 9.—The long threatened tie-up of the building industries of Washington reached a crisis late yesterday, when the carpenters, bricklayers and other union workmen employed on many buildings under construction by contractors affiliated with the Employers' association were ordered out.

The general strike was formally declared upon last Saturday by a conference of the representatives of the seventeen international and national trades unions, but no effort was made to give the strike order effect until local No. 1, International Bricklayers and Stonemasons' union, decided last night to enter the fight against the "open shop" policy of the Employers' association. Both agents of the unions made a thorough canvass of the city yesterday to determine how many buildings under construction by members of the Employers' association have non-union mechanics at work. This canvass was completed yesterday afternoon and the strike order was at once promulgated.

PEACEMAKER A MURDERER.

Killed His Prospective Father-in-Law After Trying to Stop a Fight.

New York, Aug. 9.—Losing his temper because his efforts as a peacemaker did not succeed, Edward Mulvaney, a young man, knocked down and killed his prospective father-in-law, Robert S. Sealander, a contractor, in Pacific street, Brooklyn, early yesterday. The killing was the outcome of a quarrel between Mr. Sealander and his son, Mr. Mulvaney, who was calling on Miss Sealander, feared that the disputants would harm each other and intervened. His plea for peace was not heard and the contractor turned upon him. Argument developed and Mulvaney and Sealander adjourned to the street to settle their quarrel. Mulvaney struck Sealander a powerful blow on the head, knocking him down. The contractor died shortly afterward. Mulvaney was taken into custody.

BIG INCREASE IN TRAFFIC.

Caused by New Passenger Rate Law in North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 9.—The new passenger rate law has resulted in big increase in the volume of travel in the last 24 hours. The railroad managers say that the reduced rate is less than the cost of transportation. The state officials insist that the profits will be enormously increased.

A History of Ryegate.

A history of the town of Ryegate from its settlement in 1774 by the Scotch-American company of farmers to the present time, is being prepared by F. P. Wells and will be published early next year by the town. The history is based upon the family records and other data collected during many years by the late Edward Miller. It will contain a historical sketch of the country before its settlement, the information and actions of the Scotch-American company of farmers at Innachuan, and all that can be gathered concerning the work of the pioneers and of the generations which succeeded them. It will contain the proceedings of town meetings, an account of the schools, agricultural, manufacturing, and business interests; also historical sketches of the four Presbyterian churches of Ryegate, which embody the religious life of its people. Many valuable historical papers will be published in this book for the first time, and other topics relating to the life of the town will receive attention. The second part of the book will embrace the records of Ryegate families, with numerous biographical sketches and anecdotes of the pioneers.

Carelessly Spoken.

Several ladies sat in their club a few evenings ago discussing the virtues of their husbands.

"Mr. Bingleton," said one of them, referring to her life partner, "never drinks, and never swears—indeed, he has no bad habits."

"Does he ever smoke?" someone asked. "Yes," he likes a cigar just after he has eaten a good meal. But I suppose, on an average, he doesn't smoke more than once a month."

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bradley of Thompson Island, Boston, and Mrs. A. A. Niles of Morrisville, were guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Spaulding.

John H. Watson, Jr., son of Judge and Mrs. J. H. Watson, left yesterday for Cleveland, Ohio, by way of Boston, to enter a law office to practice his profession.

After an absence of 24 years, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Christy are visiting Montpelier, and find many changes. Mr. Christy is in the boot and shoe business in Guthrie Center, Iowa, and is a native of Plainfield.

The city authorities are trying to locate the champion mouse man of Montpelier or Berlin who cut their wire fence about the reservoir, drove steel wires into the locks at the gate house and broke the wires off so that the doors could not be open. The locks have been tampered with several times. A short time ago some green stuff, believed to be Paris green, was found about the gate house.

Why Not Start Now

AND PAY CASH FOR YOUR GOODS?

We Want to Increase Our Cash Sales and Will Help You Increase Your Savings Bank Account.

To do this we are going to make the most liberal DISCOUNT FEATURE ever offered in Barre.

Our Plan is This:

We have just installed a new National Cash Register System, built specially to take care of our business and to prevent mistakes and carelessness.

Beginning August 12th, 1907, and continuing till September 12th, 1907, we will give you a cash register receipt for each cash purchase in our store, and for one day in the month we will return to the holders of these cash register receipts bearing that date the amount of their cash purchase for that day. The lucky day will be announced September 15th and checks will be redeemed at our store any time between September 16th and 30th, 1907.

This means that you can come into our store and trade with us to the amount of $1.00, $10.00 or $20.00, and if it is the day that we return our receipts the amount of your purchase in cash will be returned to you. This does not apply to wholesale customers.

And remember that we have always had the name of selling our goods as low, or a little lower, than anybody in town. Our prices will remain the same and goods will be the same high-grade quality as ever.
